DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1–18 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- 5 I. Claims 1–8, to the extent that they are drawn to a method of treating allergic response comprising administering an IL-1 receptor, classified in class 514, subclass 12.
- 10 II. Claims 1–8, to the extent that they are drawn to a method of treating allergic response comprising administering a TNF receptor, classified in class 514, subclass 12.
- III. Claims 9–11, drawn to a method of testing an indeterminate pharmaceutical for anti-allergic properties, classified in class 424, subclass 9.2.
- IV. Claims 12–18, to the extent that they are drawn to a composition comprising an IL-1 receptor, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
- 15 V. Claims 12–18, to the extent that they are drawn to a composition comprising a TNF receptor, classified in class 530, subclass 350.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Each of inventions I and II and each of inventions IV and V are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are 20 distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I or IV has separate utility such as an IL-1 antagonist that does not require the combination. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where 25 applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the 30 present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Art Unit: 1647

Methods I and III and methods II and III are independent and distinct, wherein each member of a pair performs different functions, using different starting materials and/or process steps and/or with different outcomes: I and II require treatment. Method III does not require treatment. The mixture administered in III is not administered in I or II. III could be practiced
5 with any indeterminate pharmaceutical other than an IL-1 receptor or a TNF receptor.

Inventions IV and I and inventions V and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that 10 product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case I could be practiced with V and II could be practiced with IV. IV or V could be used for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

Inventions IV or V and invention III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different 15 product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). IV or V could be used for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. III could be practiced with any indeterminate pharmaceutical other than an IL-1 receptor or a TNF receptor.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, have acquired a 20 separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, and the search required for each group is not required for the other groups because each group requires a different non-patent literature search due to each group comprising different products and/or method steps, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:
25 nasal tissue, ocular tissue, lung tissue, and skin. The species are independent or distinct because the tissues are distinct and involve non-overlapping subject matter.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is generic.

Art Unit: 1647

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

5        Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

10       Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

15       The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

20       Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
